

Senior SAP Supply Chain Management consultant

To expand our Supply Chain Management Team, we are looking for:

Senior functional consultant in SAP APO Demand & Supply Planning

Your tasks will involve creating world-class operational efficiency throughout the client's supply chain, thus enabling profitable growth in new & existing markets. These engagements typically require an end-to-end understanding of supply chains & experience with developing innovative supply chain strategies & the associated transformation components. Your work will be project-based, imposing requirements on your knowledge & ability to see both the details & the big picture. In addition to working with our clients, it is also common to work with their suppliers & customers across the extended supply chain.

Key responsibilities

- Address both strategic & operational supply chain issues
- Guiding team through problem definition, issue identification & work plan development using problem solving principles
- Helping define the structural & cultural changes required to reach the goal; sequencing those changes
- Work seamlessly with our client's own resources to ensure that the Supply Chain recommendations & implementations will address their business requirements.
- Build long-term relationships with key clients

Qualifications

- You have a master's degree
- You have at least 5 years hands-on experience within the Supply Chain Management field & transformational related topics, always with a view on business value
- You have worked as a senior consultant in one or several of the following SAP modules; APO Demand Planning, APO Supply Network Planning, APO Production Planning / Detailed Scheduling or APO Global ATP.
- You have the ability to understand critical success factors for our clients & their industry
- Ability to travel when required

Professional Skill Requirements

- Proven ability to work creatively & analytically in a problem-solving environment
- An understanding of technology & its application to business
- Excellent leadership, communication (written & oral) & interpersonal skills
- You will be expected to be passionate & positive about the opportunity to enhance your existing skill set & experience

Are you destined for greater things & think that InXites should know about you, submit your profile to info@inxites.be or give us a call on 00 32 2 254 02 51.